CEO Announcement

Dylan Bartlett to lead Supply Chain Canada as new President and CEO.

Supply Chain Canada's board of directors is pleased to announce the appointment of Dylan Bartlett to President and Chief Executive Officer, effective November 25th, 2024.

After a long and very extensive search and hiring process, many high-level candidates were considered. We were very impressed by Dylan's overall vision and growth strategy, along with his passion and enthusiasm for both the supply chain industry and Supply Chain Canada's future.

With a bold vision, Dylan will lead our team at the National Office and work closely with our Institute partners across the country to ensure that our message is heard and that our goals are achieved. We hope to reach new levels of success as we continue to advocate for our members and the industry. Dylan will provide leadership and strategic guidance to support our world-class education program, along with our national marketing strategy and advocacy work, he will also lead us in realizing our significant growth goals.

With over 20 years of experience in a leadership role, both as an entrepreneur and an executive, Dylan has a very well-rounded skillset, including experience in many supply chain roles. Dylan is a fierce advocate for the supply chain industry and is deeply knowledgeable about the unique role Supply Chain Canada plays across Canada. He brings a wealth of sales knowledge and experience; he is also passionate about the opportunity to grow our brand through increased advocacy efforts.

With more than 100 years of expertise, Supply Chain Canada has worked tirelessly to advance the profession, raise awareness and support our members across Canada. Foundationally, we are stronger than ever and are poised for significant growth in the future.

We thank you for your ongoing support!

Thank you,
Michael Whelan, SCMP
Board Chair, National Board of Directors
Supply Chain Canada
